

Building Your Voice: Mapping your centre

In 2023, thousands of educators are joining their union and standing up to support our claims for a pay rise funded by government and a stronger voice for every educator.

To make sure that you and all your fellow educators are counted and have a say in Setting the Standard in 2023, you can start by gathering some information. We call this “mapping”. It can help you figure out who you still need to have a conversation with about joining your union and who can help your centre become more involved in Setting the Standard.

How many people in total currently work at your centre (including cooks and admins, and regular casuals)
How many of them are already UWU members?
